FOSTER Search

As we approach Phase 2 of our construction we have a lot of excitement but with that is a lot of stress too. As we prepare for phase 2 we will need to move our dogs out of the shelter and transition to a FOSTER ONLY program. This is going to be tough and such a change for all of us. We can't do it without YOU!

We need to build our base of fosters so we can continue to help as many dogs as possible over the next year. Fostering saves lives and we promise your heart will be full watching these dogs flourish in your homes as you prepare them for their forever families.

We will help to match the dogs to your environment and we will provide food, medical care and whatever supplies you might need. You provide the love and the structure. You post them to social media, you bring them to events when possible and you learn all about them.

What are the requirements for fostering?

- If you have animals in the home they must be current on core vaccinations, spayed and neutered and dogs must be on heartworm prevention

How long is the Foster commitment?

- Varies a lot with the dog. Puppies go fairly quickly and older and bigger dogs may be a bit longer. The more you post them and tell about them the quicker they get adopted.

What kinds of dogs need fosters?

- We have big dogs, little dogs, puppies and seniors that will be needing fosters. You let our team know what your preference is and we will help make a match.

How do I become a foster?

- Fill out an application online at www.colonialcapitalhs.org

VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT

MIKE JORASKIE

How long have you been volunteering?

- 3 years

How did you get started volunteering?

- Moving here from New Jersey, I bought a house near CCHS because it was a no-kill shelter. Then began with taking dogs home for day trips out of the shelter to cool them down in the summer.

What are some of your volunteer activities?

- Walking dogs
- Picking up & taking pups to adoption events
- Donating items as needed
- Uber driver for pups to vet appointments
- Pick up pups for walks downtown to socialize and meet public
- Fostering

What made you become a foster?

- Morphed from attending adoption events.

Do you have a favorite volunteer memory?

- I had to give up Lady Bug after a week because she did not get along with our Abby. However, she was later adopted by a family that lived on a boat. I ran into that family about a year later and she remembered me! This made my heart so happy! My second favorite is when I look back through memories and sees all the happy dogs, I have been able to help along the way!

What is the best part about volunteering?

- I like meeting new people, but I love the dogs the most! It makes me feel good inside to know that I have done something good. I feel fortunate to be able to volunteer.

Why do you think it is important to volunteer?

- We should give back to life and this (helping animals) is a wonderful way to do it!

Do you have any advice to someone new to volunteering?

- Just to encourage everyone to try something!

VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT

IDA STRALEY

Ida is one of the longest standing volunteers at the flea market. Like most of us, she was a regular shopper/bargain hunter, before she realized that she could contribute towards helping the animals from within. 10 years ago, she started work in the kitchen department, where her first job was sorting spoons and forks - not particularly challenging, but still necessary. Via several more departments she eventually she ended up with her pictures, lamps and mirrors empire, where she works two days a week slotted in between her other volunteer jobs, where she is simply motivated to 'contribute' and make a difference.

She has been known to regularly purchase frames or pictures that she has discovered elsewhere so that she can renovate them completely and sell them in her department to make more money for the CCHS. Her storage area is filled with "work in progress" projects for the flea market and occasionally customer-requested specific commissions. Ida has recruited another volunteer, Mike, to assist her with the required glass cutting and we are all happy to see the revenue she generates when her creative (eye-on-the-money) vision identifies the potential of a simple photo or poster that will be all the more attractive and sellable in a suitable frame - that she just happens to have stored somewhere awaiting its calling.

Just last week Ida donated the $100 she was given for an outside project to our coffers. She has been instrumental in generating very generous donations from a wide variety of acquaintances from those who are simply tidying out their garages or down-sizing to those who are parting with almost everything to relocate to other states. Ida seems to have a 'nose' for harvesting funds from her animal-loving friends and acquaintances and is not ashamed to use it. The joy for Ida is not just in the activity of her 'work', but in the company of the other volunteers, meeting, advising and assisting the customers and ultimately knowing that she plays her part in giving our cats and dogs a future, not only healthy, but also freely spreading their love and happiness. We are grateful for Ida's spirit of generosity, and it must be said, not least in the regular provision of her home-baked goodies, especially those from her Italian homeland.

*"There's nothing stronger than the heart of a volunteer." –
Lt. Col. James Doolittle*

VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT

PENNY AND DENNIS DOUTHETT

1. What made you become a foster?

We started out becoming fosters to look for another puppy/dog that would be a brother or sister for Jack and one that would be Dennis' dog, but we were not sure what we were looking for at first.

2. Do you have a favorite foster moment you would like to share?

We have had several great moments with our fosters. Best moments are just seeing the changes in a puppy that does not know how to trust, start trusting you and trusting others. Another great moment came with one of our fosters, at an adoption event where she came to have her adoption finalized, the recognition of seeing me there when I came up to her, she sniffed me and proceeded giving kisses. What a moment!

3. Who was the hardest foster to let go?

All the dogs and puppies that have come through our home, are loved and we have prayed over finding them the right home. They all have made an impact on our lives. We nursed some back to health, taught others how to not be afraid of humans. We let all of them know how much they are loved, and how to be part of a family. We always say, once our dogs played with the fosters, they would be in their forever home soon. Some of our hardest fosters to let go are the ones we did go through a lot with, and some were just so very loving that you knew they touched your heart hard, but we also knew that is where they belonged.

4. What do you feel is the best part of fostering?

Seeing someone else's heart melt when they are there to adopt a pet. When you know what some have been through, and you know they are ready.

5. Why do you feel fostering is so important?

Without the CCHS fostering program, I would have never had the chance to have my oldest dog, Jack. He had been fostered through Colonial Capital by someone we knew through both my children. We would have never found his sister Gracie or been able to help save her through Colonial Capital. Fostering for us has taught us about taking care of puppies and overall has made us better pet parents. Fostering gives these puppies and dogs a chance at a new life they may never have gotten.

6. Do you have any advice for anyone who is new to fostering or is considering becoming a foster?

Never have expectations of fosters, they are all different. If you think something is wrong, contact your CCHS contact. Anything that you see can just be a little thing or be a medical emergency. Our mentors at Colonial are knowledgeable fosters and can help with any problems you experience. Be patient and show them lots of love, extra love if they are alone, they may never have been alone. We like to have two puppies when we get them, so they are not alone. By all means get to know them and love them for that is our greatest gift we can give.

VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT

BARB TUTTLE

Barb Tuttle started her volunteer efforts with CCHS (cleaning in our Cat House) in early 2016 as a weekly volunteer! That continued for a number of years.

Then, during the early months of covid in 2020 (for several months) CCHS was no longer allowed to have/display our CCHS Shelter cats and kittens in the PetSmart of New Bern Showcases (8). However, when we were given the 'go ahead' to resume filling the showcase kennels with our Shelter cats/kittens we were told PetSmart could no longer provide their employees for the twice daily cleaning of those 8 kennels. We know without that volunteer commitment to clean those kennels, we would not be able to show our cats/kittens in PetSmart where they could be seen and receive applications/inquiries for adoption.

When we reached out to Barb who loves and continually promotes our cats and kittens, she readily agreed to take on the (never ending) responsibility of posting/promoting and coordinating volunteers for this effort. She is AMAZING... and has worked tirelessly to ensure that 7 days a week (2 times daily) we have volunteer coverage (am and pm) to ensure our PetSmart Show Case Kennels are cleaned and the cats are properly cared for. She has built an fantastic team of committed volunteers who take their volunteer shifts seriously and report to her any and all concerns (and general observations regarding the cats there)! From that input, she provides us daily with needed feedback, for example, X is sneezing continually, Y has diarrhea, Z seems lethargic. Also, with the help of her team, they have initiated so many great improvements for the cats and the "Cat Room" at PetSmart, i.e. a strict cleaning protocol, two times daily check overs of the cats kenneled there, an information board on any and all observations, etc.

Many time, she has filled in (if another volunteer is not available) where needed when her volunteer may not be able to make it in. She is always there to bring a cat back to the shelter (unexpectedly) if a core cat house team member can't get to PetSmart! She is also a key member of our Kitten Foster Program and assists our KFP with our Saturday weekly events several times each month.

Her dedication to this effort is unsurpassed. Thank You Barb Tuttle!

Most common triggers for HRI in dogs³

Remember: "Dogs die in hot cars and on hot walks"

Trigger	Percentage
EXERCISE	74.2%
HOT/HUMID WEATHER	12.9%
VEHICLE CONFINEMENT	5.2%

Most important trigger by far: EXERCISE

Clinical signs of HRI include severe panting, tiredness, drooling, vomiting and diarrhoea, which can ultimately progress to unconsciousness and death⁴.

Overweight and obese dogs are at higher risk of HRI than dogs at a healthy weight¹. Obesity in flat-faced dogs reduces the effectiveness of panting as a cooling mechanism⁵.

FIREWORKS & YOUR PETS

Bonfire Night can be a very distressing time for your pet. With the likelihood of fireworks being set off in your area, it is important to prepare as much as possible to provide a calm and relaxed environment for your pet on the night. Animals can become easily startled by sudden loud noises and flashes, so making sure that they are microchipped or wearing an ID tag gives you a better chance of being reunited should they escape. Whether you have a dog, cat, horse or smaller pet, these tips will provide you with all the information you need to know about keeping your pet at ease on Bonfire Night.

HORSE:

- Ensure that fireworks are not set off near your horse's field or stable.
- Let neighbours and event organisers know that there will be horses close by.
- Try and keep your horses in their normal environment, whether it is a stable or a field, to keep them in their normal routine. If they have a companion, it is best to keep them together.

- Give your horse plenty of hay to keep them occupied.
- Remain calm and relaxed around your horse to keep them at ease.
- Do not risk riding your horse while fireworks are being set off.
- Try to keep your horse calm but remain a safe distance from your horse; a spooked horse can be dangerous.
- Ensure you, or someone experienced is present with your horse when fireworks are being set off.
- Have a fire procedure in place if there are any bonfires nearby.
- In the morning check your field for any stray fireworks.

DOG:

- Try to walk your dog in daylight hours before the fireworks start.
- Keep them indoors with dog flap or gate shut. If your dog needs to go to the toilet later on in the evening, go out with them to help them feel more secure.
- Draw the curtains so your dog isn't startled by any sudden flashes.
- Give your dog a new toy to keep them distracted and occupied.
- Create a 'den' for your dog with blankets and bedding, this will give them an area to calm down and muffle the noises.
- Try to act normal around your dog if they become fearful or stressed, reassuring them can reinforce their fear.

CAT:

1. Keep your cat indoors with windows, doors and cat flap shut and secured so they can't escape if spooked.
2. Draw the curtains so your cat isn't startled by any sudden flashes.
3. Put the TV or music on to mute the sound of the fireworks.
4. Give your cat a safe place to hide with blankets and bedding to mask the noises.
5. If your cat isn't used to being kept indoors, provide extra litter trays.
6. If your cat is hiding don't try and lure them out, this can cause them to become more anxious and stressed.
7. Try not to soothe your cat too much if they become distressed, this can make them worry more if they sense you are anxious.

SMALLER ANIMALS:

Don't forget the smaller members of the family on Bonfire Night like hamsters, guinea pigs and rabbits. Ensure that they have extra hay or bedding to help mask the sound of the fireworks. The extra bedding also allows them to burrow deeper so they feel safe and occupied. If your small pets live outside in cages or hutches, place them in a quieter area, either indoors or in a garden shed or garage. Partly cover cages and pens with extra blankets, carpets or a rug to help drown out the noise.

Cans for Paws

Cans for Paws is gaining momentum!!! It's a LOT of work and if anyone is interested in helping out, just let me know. I'll bring you along. You'll learn more about aluminum cans than you could ever want to know. To date, we've raised over $3,000 to put toward the generator at the new facility. My thanks to all of you who have been dropping off the cans.

Comfort for Critters is always looking for those who sew, tie knots with fleece, knit or crochet to make blankets for our cats and dogs. Please contact Elibby Harrison at vueluv@gmail.com.

Reminder: if you are wondering if a can is aluminum, use a magnet. If it doesn't stick, it's aluminum. If it does stick, you'll need to keep the cans and put them in the recycle bin at your house. Also, please donate only aluminum cans not household trash!

Thanks a bunch!
